The Mississippi river smashed through its levees today and rolled over thousands of acres of rich Illinois and Missouri farm lands, adding immeasurably to the misery and property damage caused by floods and tornadoes over the weekend.

Throughout the nation a known 21 persons died in floods and storms.

Levee breaks occurred between Keokuk, Ia., where the Des Moines river poured its flood waters into the Mississippi, and St. Louis, Mo.

NO DEATHS were reported in the area flooded by the Mississippi, although one village, Alexandria, Mo., was swept by the raging river.

Ottumwa, Ia., caught the full force of the swollen Des Moines. Ten persons were known to have perished and rescue workers said the death toll may reach 20. An estimated 15,000 of the city's population of 40,000 were homeless.

Violent tornadoes took another ten lives in Ohio and Pennsylvania. At Sharon, Pa., three persons were killed by the twister, and the property damage was estimated at one million dollars.

The tornado also struck Mercer and Grove City, in Pennsylvania, and Youngstown, Warren, Vienna, Deforest, Niles and Ravenna, in Ohio. In the Vienna area three persons, including an 18-months-old infant boy, perished.

MILLION DOLLAR DAMAGE wreaked by twister that hit Youngstown and Warren area near Ohio-Pennsylvania border is reflected in these pictures of toppled and smashed houses. Eight persons are reported dead. Twister struck without warning during a lull between rainstorms.

WARDELL RITES SLATED TUESDAY Boulevard Light Turnon Program Plans Complete

Jackson Township Resident Killed In Accident On Kaiser Farm

Funeral for Thomas "Tucker" Wardell, 45, Route 3, who was killed Saturday, will be held Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. in the First Methodist church.

Mr. Wardell suffered fatal injuries Saturday afternoon in a "freak accident" while he was operating a power shovel on the John Kaiser farm situated on the Goose Pond road 12 miles northwest of Circleville. The accident occurred about 1:30 p. m.

When the scoop became mired in the mud Mr. Wardell maneuvered the ditching outfit in an attempt to extricate the shovel. Suddenly the cable broke. It shattered the cab window and struck him on his chest and side.

Staggering from the cab Mr. Wardell collapsed and died a few moments later. A fellow-worker, Mr. Drake, told Deputy Sheriff Vern L. Pontious he did not see the accident but that he noticed Mr. Wardell on the ground. He said Mr. Wardell succumbed soon after swallowing some water which he had requested.

MR. WARDELL was born in Deer Creek township, October 15, 1901, the son of Thomas and Mary Metzger Wardell, who live near Clarksburg.

Also surviving are his widow, Mrs. Wilma Dewey Wardell; one son, Thomas Wardell III; two daughters, Myrtle and Nancy; two brothers, Clarence Wardell, East Main street, and Joseph Wardell, near Clarksburg; four sisters, Mrs. George Immell, (Continued on Page Two)

CLIFTON TRIAL BEGINS; JURY CHOSEN QUICKLY

State's witnesses were scheduled to testify Monday afternoon in the trial of George Clifton, 24, indicted on a burglary charge in connection with the $1,300 robbery at the Howard Hall Post No. 134, American Legion, 136 East Main street. The burglary occurred the night of Nov. 9, 1946.

Thrice postponed, the trial got away to a fast start Monday morning in Pickaway county common pleas court, with Judge William D. Radcliff presiding.

A panel of 30 potential jurors had been summoned for service. The proceedings began at 10:25 a. m., and 35 minutes later the jury of seven women and five men had been impaneled and sworn.

In questioning the members of the jury panel Defense Attorney Joseph W. Adkins disclosed that he expected the trial to last four days.

Prosecuting Attorney Kenneth Robbins and Assistant Prosecutor Emmett L. Crist will present the state's case against Clifton. More than a dozen prosecution witnesses are expected to testify.

The jurors are: I. P. Todd, Circleville township; Helen Smith, Williamsport; Mrs. Hannah Peters, Madison township; Leotta Heffner, Saltcreek township; Ellen Dunlap, Deer Creek township; Glenn Hamilton, Muhlenberg township; Mrs. Guy Cline, Harrison township; Wayne Brown, Madison township; Alfred Hill, Scioto township; Rose Hobble, Perry township; E. C. Schwartz and Alice L. Dick.

Witnesses said that the tank truck upset after colliding with a trailer-truck on U. S. route 20. Walter Calhoun, 50, Elyria, driver of the Lehman cartage company trailer-truck, escaped in injury.

A series of explosions, lasting for more than a half-hour, broke out in the tank truck. Shrapnel-like fragments of steel were scattered over a large area. The victims, trapped in the cab of the truck, were burned beyond recognition.

Wedley Blaycock, 21, visiting at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Gordon Hyder, 28, was cut by flying glass. The Hyder cottage was seared by flames and all the windows smashed by the explosion.

Now we are threatened with a shortage of gasoline. The official explanation has shifted slightly from "this is war" to "this is peace!"

But there is some prospect that sugar rationing will be discontinued—but the feeling is that we can be trusted with unlimited sweethearts just prior to an election year.

In Tokyo, the Tojo trial now is in its second year. The third act still is not quite ready.

But it seems certain as of the moment that there is no escape for Tojo unless he either will be hanged or talked to death.

Nuernberg was shorter but there were more willing hands available to fashion the law as they went along.

Funerals Held While Police Continue Probe Of Ohio Hospital Mystery

BULLETIN

MASSILLON, O., June 9—Stark county officials suddenly entered the Massillon baby death case today with a dramatic announcement that they were taking the father of one of the two infants to Cleveland for a lie detector test.

W. Bernard Rodgers, assistant county prosecutor, made it clear to newsmen that the decision to give Harry E. Morton the examination was "routine."

MASSILLON, O., June 9—One of the most bizarre hospital mysteries in the nation's history seemed to be taking still another strange turn today.

From the original theory that a maniacal killer murdered ten-week-old Diane Jean Brand and nine-week-old Rose Mary Morton in their Massillon city hospital cribs last Friday night, police shifted their probe to the possibility that the infant girls were killed accidentally and possibly by a child.

The lights then will be turned on, after which a 30-minute fireworks display will be touched off at Court and Main streets.

BECAUSE the old street lights in the downtown area will remain until Tuesday night the committee has urged all merchants to leave their show windows and electric signs turned on.

The re-routing of traffic will be over Scioto, Franklin, Pickaway and High streets. All parking will be prohibited within a one-half block radius of Court and Main streets beginning with the Tuesday night closing time.

The celebration will be under auspices of the Chamber of Commerce. The committee in charge is composed of Mayor Gordon, chairman; County Treasurer Robert G. Colville, Safety Director Thurman I. Miller, and Mr. Gilmore.

Each new boulevard light is of 10,000 candlepower, each is suspended 25 feet above the street, and the lights will burn all night every night in the year.

ROBERT NORPOTH PINNED UNDER FARM TRACTOR

Having miraculously escaped serious injury when he was pinned for an hour under an overturned tractor, Robert Norpeth, 37, Route 2, Ashville, was in Berger hospital, Circleville, Monday, undergoing treatment for numerous cuts and bruises.

Mr. Norpeth was operating the tractor on the Ringgold-Morris road at his Walnut township farm at 11 a. m. Sunday and was crossing a small bridge over a ditch when a rear wheel of the tractor left the bridge, thus causing the tractor to turn over.

Members of the Norpeth family, aided by several neighbors, worked frantically for 60 minutes to extricate Mr. Norpeth, who was removed to the hospital in Defenbaugh's ambulance. Examination disclosed no broken bones and apparently no internal injuries.

The Norpeth family formerly lived on Beverly road, Route 2, Circleville.

COAL MINERS STRIKE

PITTSBURGH, June 9—Western Pennsylvania soft coal mines were hit by a wave of strikes today in protest over the Taft-Hartley labor bill. More than 10,000 diggers walked out in Fayette and Greene counties idling operations at 14 collieries including some of the world's largest "captive" mines.

COLUMBUS, O., June 9—Chester S. Hutchison, junior dean of Ohio State University's college of agriculture, will become associate dean of the college, effective Sept. 1.

Rationing of Sugar
May Be Ended June 30

WASHINGTON, June 9—The agriculture department is considering ending home sugar rationing June 30.

It was authoritatively learned today that a final decision is dependent largely upon the following three factors:

1. Continued regular shipments of sugar from Cuba, whose crop has exceeded agriculture department estimates.

2. No maritime strike.

3. No increase in present consumer consumption.

Under existing law, both home sugar rationing and controls over the allocation of sugar to industrial users will end Oct. 31 unless terminated earlier by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson.

If the department decides that home rationing can not be ended yet, additional supplies of sugar probably will be made available to housewives through another rationing stamp.

Anderson said housewives probably would then receive another five pounds of sugar for general use before rationing ended or 10 pounds for home users could be placed on the later.

He pointed out that last year

BILLS TO AWAIT TRUMAN RETURN

President Not Expected To Act On Tax Cuts, Labor Until After Trip

By International News Service

President Truman has the country guessing today about his plans on the labor-tax bills and it looks like it will continue to do so for another week.

Mr. Truman leaves Washington at 8 p. m. EST Monday for a three-day goodwill visit to Canada with action on the two measures expected to await his return Friday.

The Canadian visit will be climaxed by an address the chief executive is scheduled to make before parliament on Wednesday.

WHITE HOUSE advisers are marshalling arguments for and against the labor reform bill to assist the President in deciding whether to sign or veto the measure.

Clark Clifford, the President's general counsel, is expected to head the group of administration officials urging the chief executive to approve the legislation.

Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach, Paul Herzog, chairman of the national labor relations board, and others are expected to champion a veto.

Some of Mr. Truman's top-flight economic advisers believe he will sign the labor control bill into law and veto the tax reduction measure.

COLUMBUS HAS BLACKOUT

COLUMBUS, O., June 9—Downtown Columbus was plunged into darkness and electric transportation came to a halt for 10 minutes shortly after noon today when a power failure cut all electricity. Charles Gilligan, general superintendent of the Columbus and Southern Electric company, said that the failure occurred in the canal station. He said that cause of the trouble had not been determined.

The school aid bill has passed both houses, but it is now snarled in conference committee until the conferees decide where to compromise between the $8 million dollar a year senate version and the $3 million dollar a year house proposal.

The senate seems to have the biggest job before it. The house has passed and sent to it the local government program and the general appropriation bill. The latter carried $85 million for the operation of the state the next two years when it left the house, but is being amended in the senate finance committee.

The other two pieces of "must" work still have to clear both houses. They are the $2.34 million dollar postwar improvements bill, which probably will be brought to the house floor tonight or tomorrow, and the quarter of a million dollar sundry claims bill, still in the house finance committee.

The school aid bill has passed both houses, but it is now snarled in conference committee until the conferees decide where to compromise between the $8 million dollar a year senate version and the $3 million dollar a year house proposal.

In a letter to the president, Clarence H. Knisley, director of Democratic state headquarters, urged the president to sign the tax bill because "the average citizen probably will be faced with a 15 per cent increase in rents which will be much greater than the benefits derived from the tax reduction."

On the labor bill, Knisley stated that this bill, while embodying a few good points, is on the whole a vicious piece of legislation that would eventually prove dangerous to the entire country.

CONGRESS TOLD LEFTISTS BACK ALL UPRISEINGS

Communists Try To 'Create Chaos' In Hemisphere, State Aide Says

WASHINGTON, June 9—Assistant Secretary of State Spruille Braden warned Congress that Communists in Latin America constitute "a greater peril in my opinion than even the Nazi fifth columnists" and are attempting to "create chaos" in the western hemisphere.

Braden estimated before a closed session of the House appropriations subcommittee on government corporations in testimony made public today that there were at least 574,000 Communists in the western hemisphere.

He emphasized, however, that in the 1946 Brazilian elections the Communist vote was 390,807, whereas their reported membership was 130,000.

THE RETIRING assistant secretary, who will relinquish on June 30 control over the Latin American affairs division, warned that Communists have members in "high positions" throughout Latin America.

Braden estimated there were approximately 300,000 Communist party members in South America, approximately 200,000 in the Central America and Caribbean area, and about 74,000 in the United States. He gave no estimate for Canada or Mexico.

Their whole objective, he stressed, is "a destructive one, a tearing down process."

BRADEN stated: "Their whole program is to create chaos at every turn. They are in on every potential revolution and it does not matter who is behind it. It may be started by an ultra-conservative, but, nevertheless, the Communists will join up with it, because that is a part of their system of creating chaos. Of course, they ridicule and criticize our system of democracy. They have got men even in high positions as well as elsewhere."

Braden asserted that the great poverty to be found in Latin America provided fertile soil for Communist ideologies, and added: "when you come to this Communist thing... the only way to hit that is by raising their living standard and that is going to take decades before it can be finally worked out."

The subcommittee was advised that the United States has expended $3,858,243 in Latin American nations through the government-owned institute of inter-American affairs, of which Braden is board chairman. This has been matched with $30,791,928 from the recipient nations. Braden said the other countries were constantly increasing the ratio of their contributions to the program.

OHIO DEMOCRATS ASK TRUMAN TO SIGN TAX CUTS

COLUMBUS, O., June 9—Democratic state headquarters today urged President Truman to sign the income-tax reduction bill and veto the Taft-Hartley labor bill now on his desk.

In a letter to the president, Clarence H. Knisley, director of Democratic state headquarters, urged the president to sign the tax bill because "the average citizen probably will be faced with a 15 per cent increase in rents which will be much greater than the benefits derived from the tax reduction."

On the labor bill, Knisley stated that this bill, while embodying a few good points, is on the whole a vicious piece of legislation that would eventually prove dangerous to the entire country.

lege of agriculture was announced.

Hutchison, 45, is a native of Ashville in Pickaway county and is a graduate of Ohio State. He taught vocational agriculture in Logan county for six years.

Bragg, who also is 45, is a graduate of Ohio State and a former agricultural agent in Pickaway county. He has been chief agriculturist of the state public welfare department.

(Continued from Page One) more than a million dollars damage to the cherry crop, and was worth more than a million dollars to the wheat crop, by ranchers' own estimate.

An 80-year-old Indian woman was killed near Dallas, Ore., when more than an inch of rain caused a flash flood. The wall of water carried her a mile, and swept her over a 30-foot cliff to her death.

In the Sterling, Colo., area a tornado cut a 20-mile-long path of devastation, leveling ranch homes and destroying wheat crops.

At Quincy, where flood control headquarters were set up, the Mississippi reached a record stage of 23.6 feet, but was reported receding today.

At Ottumwa, thousands of the population sought emergency refuge in churches, parks, schools and government buildings.

Army and Navy doctors fought the specter of typhoid fever as the city's water supply diminished.

A portable purifier was brought in from Kansas City to employ on water from the municipal swimming pool to render it safe for human consumption.

The Navy reported it had given anti-typhoid injections to about 800 refugees quartered in the nearby naval air station barracks. Enough serum was available for 21,000 injections.

AT CHILlicothe, Mo., the Grand river overflowed its banks and took a million-dollar toll of crops and livestock.

At Kansas City, the weather bureau predicted that all of the northern Missouri river tributaries would be receding today.

Flood warnings on the Missouri and Kaw rivers above Kansas City were removed.

THE UNCONTROLLABLE elements left a trail of death, misery and destruction in Ohio today as many parts of the state went about the job of cleaning up after a tornado and flash floods.

Damage was expected to total more than a half-million dollars.

Three persons were dead and more than 100 suffered injuries from the twister that battered eastern Ohio over a broad area stretching from Ravenna into the Warren-Youngstown district and over the state line into Sharon, Pa., Saturday afternoon.

At the same time the tornado was leveling homes, farm buildings and uprooting thousands of trees, near-cloudbursts flooded streams and washed out planted farmlands in the lowlands of Scioto and Adams county and in northern Kentucky.

WITH 2.48 inches of rain in the Portsmouth area in a little over 24 hours, the Scioto river spilled over its banks, flooding hundreds of acres or rich bottomlands between Portsmouth and Lucasville.

Blue creek in Adams county reached the highest stage in the memory of residents there. Turkey creek, west of Portsmouth, also rolled out of its banks, sending several families fleeing to safety ahead of the rushing waters.

The Blanchard river at Findlay was receding today after reaching a 10-year record high and most other streams were getting back into their banks following record crests.

The Chesapeake area reported the heaviest rainfall over the state. For the 24-hour period be-

THREE DRIVERS FINED $50 IN EVELAND COURT

Three motorists were fined $50 and costs each over the weekend by Justice of the Peace Harold O. Eveland.

Glenore DeTillian, taken into custody Sunday on U. S. Route 23 by State Highway Patrolman L. G. Ridneour on a charge of driving when intoxicated, was penalized Monday.

Clyde Davis, arrested Sunday by Deputy Sheriff Vern L. Pontious on a charge of failure to stop after a collision with the car operated by Carl Gulick, on Route 23, was fined Monday.

Virgil Tilton, accused of driving when intoxicated and arrested Saturday night on the Island road by Deputy Pontious, was penalized Sunday.

BEFORE LEAVING for Canada, however, Mr. Truman is expected to approve a sharp protest to the allied control council in Hungary on the Communist coup d'etat in Hungary.

A final draft of the protest note which will be dispatched to the Soviet chairman of the allied control council for Hungary was prepared for action by the President and Secretary of State George C. Marshall.

Many diplomats forsaw a crisis of first magnitude developing.

Rep. Eaton (R) N. J., chairman of the house foreign affairs committee, announced that his group will begin hearings Wednesday on the Colmer resolution demanding Russian fulfillment of wartime promises and insisting upon a "firm" American policy.

WILSON THROWS TEETH AT CHIEF FOLLOWING ARREST

Onnon Wilson, 41, Circleville, who hurled his false teeth at Police Chief William F. McCrady, was in the city jail Monday awaiting a hearing before Mayor Ben H. Gordon on charges of intoxication and disorderly conduct.

Arrested on West Main street by Patrolmen Alva Shasteen and John W. McGinnis, Wilson became angered in police headquarters, removed his teeth, and threw them at Chief McCrady. The snappers clattered to the floor. Wilson, who has been arrested on numerous occasions and similar occasions, retrieved the unbroken teeth and slipped them back into his mouth.

The two infant victims were to be buried today from the Massillon funeral home where the bodies were taken. Flowers and messages of sympathy poured in, reflecting the feelings of a community shocked by the deaths of the two infants.

TWO DIE IN CRASH

SPOKANE, Wash., June 9—A Greyhound bus plowed into a sedan seven miles south of Spokane yesterday, killing two persons and injuring at least eight others. Two persons in the car and at least six passengers on the bus were injured as the bus tipped over into a ditch.

Between Saturday and Sunday that southernmost Ohio point had 2.87 inches. There was an additional .34 of an inch yesterday, bringing the two-day total to a record 3.21 inches.

A FLASH flood hit Willoughby in Lake county Saturday and route 20 through the town was blocked for several hours.

The weather improved over Sunday and there was no additional rain occurring over the state today. However, the forecast for tomorrow included scattered thundershowers throughout Ohio.

Forecasters said there was no definite or large rain area at the moment, but that the sun was picking up considerable moisture for the sky to drop again as showers.

ACCIDENT ANGLE BEING STUDIED IN TOTS' DEATHS

Swifter denied at the same time reports that one of the seven children had confessed pulling the two infants from their cribs while Nurse Marian Silleck worked in an adjoining sun room.

WHILE THE new lead was being traced, Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Morton and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Brand, parents of the dead babies, prepared for funeral services this afternoon.

The police probe revealed that three of the seven children were ambulatory patients last Friday night and were allowed to play freely in and out of the sunroom and the corridor.

It was still unexplained how any of the children, all three under seven years old, could have pulled the babies from their cribs to the floor and then lifted them back. Miss Silleck told officials that the dying infants infants were in their cribs when she returned and that their injuries were so recent that swellings were just beginning to appear.

The newer theory of accidental deaths also conflicted with Connor Reno's official verdict of homicide.

THROUGHOUT the three-day investigation, police have been baffled by lack of clues to point to a murderer and lack of any obvious motive for such a crime.

Ralph Fricks, who was visiting his nine-year-old son in a room directly across from that in which the mystery deaths occurred, told authorities he neither saw nor heard anything unusual.

The mystery deaths have turned up some of the strangest angles ever encountered by veteran Ohio newsmen. These included the first word of the deaths 12 hours after they occurred through a dramatic release from the hospital.

The two infant victims were to be buried today from the Massillon funeral home where the bodies were taken. Flowers and messages of sympathy poured in, reflecting the feelings of a community shocked by the deaths of the two infants.

O'CONNOR SEES RED CROSS AS LESSENING FEAR

CLEVELAND, June 9—Basil O'Connor, chairman of the American Red Cross, today outlined the greatest role of his organization as a movement "for the lessening of fear among men."

The keynotes of his address before the 1947 annual convention in Cleveland were preparedness and the determination of the American society to pioneer new fields for the good of humanity everywhere.

JESSE JONES SEES NO EARLY U.S. DEPRESSION

Former RFC Chief Urges
Continuing Bureau But
Reducing Power

WASHINGTON, June 9—Jesse H. Jones, Texas multi-millionaire and former head of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, told congress today that the nation faces no threat of an early depression.

Jones, in a statement to the house banking and currency committee, urged continuation of the RFC but recommended repeal of many of its present powers.

The Houston capitalist, once one of the powerful figures of the late President Roosevelt's new deal, told the committee:

"While there is considerable talk nowadays about a recession in business, I do not believe we can talk ourselves into a depression."

JONES DECLARED that some reduction in the price of necessities is "highly desirable." He said this would help lower the cost of living. He added: "I see no possibility of a depression in the near future."

"There is urgent necessity of construction work of every character, public and private, throughout the country. There is a shortage of homes to live in, and homes for business."

JONES NOTED that the nation's banks and financial institutions are "in excellent condition." But he pointed out that the RFC can serve a good purpose as a "standing" in assuring credit at reasonable rates and terms.

The ex-RFC chief acknowledged that "there are some clouds on the horizon, international-wise, that could affect our economy."

The Texan added that since the war emergency is over, RFC should revert to its original purpose of domestic emergency lending and that its operations should be simplified by liquidating its subsidiaries into RFC proper.

B. F. Goodrich announces a big reduction in the price of the famous Silvertown tire!

Yes, you can now buy all popular sizes of the tire that outwears prewar tires at actually less than prewar prices! And despite higher manufacturing costs too.

One of the things that makes possible this huge price reduction is the tremendous demand for the new Silvertown—greater than for any tire B. F. Goodrich ever produced. In fact, more miles have been driven on this new tire than any other tire introduced since the war.

Soil Conservation Notes

Failure of state average crop yields to increase materially with the use of larger amounts of lime and fertilizer, higher yielding and more disease resistant crop varieties, increased tile drainage and the substitution of new land for abandoned acres, all point to the declining productivity of most Ohio soils. BOMBS AND SUCH

THE LAST great war, as all the world knows, was won by the atomic bomb invented and used by the United States. Two strokes served the purpose. It might be assumed by the average man, at home or abroad, that the shock of this experience would last forever—or at least for a period long enough to put the nations in general well on the road to permanent peace and co-operation. The world is so little now, and the perils are so great! Yet a presidential commission at Washington, making an appeal for universal military training, declares flatly that our nation could become involved in war at any time, through aggression from some distant part of the world.

It is a sobering suggestion, and it might be true, that we need not expect more than four to ten years of immunity to "sneak attacks" from abroad, or even in our own cities. Broadly speaking, the world lies open to such alien assaults as have hardly been dreamed of except by such imaginative writers as Jules Verne in former generations.

With this outlook, it might be supposed that not only scientists, but men in general, would be alert to check statements and make the public take such matters seriously, and use every effort to bring the civilized world into harmony with modern life and its perils.

LESSONS FROM THE PAST

NOW THAT the world's concern with the immediacy of war is over, man can give attention again to the mystery of his past. Archaeologists are returning to their diggings, and unearthing evidence that human nature doesn't change much, despite the passing of centuries.

A University of Pennsylvania authority recently announced the deciphering of a 5,000 year-old clay tablet which shows that the ancient Mesopotamians were thoroughly familiar with psychological warfare. The strange hieroglyphics reveal that an old-time king conquered another tribe after his first dire threats failed, when he finally changed his tactics, sent them gifts of food and promised them happiness and freedom from war. They promptly got rid of their own despotic ruler and joined him.

Few nations fight for the sake of war itself. They take up arms to achieve basic rights: freedom, peace, food, shelter, happiness. If they can be persuaded that such objectives are attainable without warfare, they pick the peaceful method. Man has been a long time learning this lesson, but it is none the less true and sound.

The archaeologists are not really discovering anything new. But we could have a new world if we learned from their findings. Their work is important, and it is well that they can go back to it.

U. S. Has Too Many Potatoes; Hungry Britons Spurn Spuds, That Is, Not Greenbacks Insisting They Carry a Blight

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Agriculture department officials are casting cautious glances at the 1947 potato crop, which may be a bonanza like last year's when many millions of bushels were destroyed to keep prices up.

Already a relatively small amount of the 1947 potato crop has been destroyed in Alabama. How much more of it will have to be disposed of by the government is yet unknown—and will remain unknown until the northern states crop is harvested.

Under a mandate of Congress, the government is forced to pay subsidies to potato growers when the market price falls below parity. This cost Uncle Sam a good bit of money last year and lost a lot of potatoes from the bumper crop.

Now angry cries are heard in Congress about the government destroying potatoes from the 1947 crop. Most of the blasts come from new congressmen, who—department officials say privately—do not know the law about potatoes, or that Congress ordered the subsidy.

The United States has tried to give potatoes to the starving people abroad, but they will not take them. Great Britain, which has a terrific food shortage, will not accept United States potatoes, claiming they have a disease which would blight British spuds.

The situation: The government is spending the taxpayers' money to keep the price of potatoes up so the taxpayers will have to pay more for them.

ASSIGNMENT: AMERICA

By Kenneth L. Dixon

Distributed by International News Service

WASHINGTON, June 9 — The policemen and the lawyer and the newspaperman were sitting at the table. They'd been sitting there a long time—so long that the waiter, in irritation, hadn't bothered to remove the coffee cups or the overflowing ashtray.

"Look," said the policeman, who was in plain clothes since it was his day off, "you got to realize that cops are human, too. Once you do that, the whole thing is perfectly plain."

The newspaperman shook his head.

"I don't see that," he said. "I mean, of course cops are human—but I don't see where that has anything to do with it. The kid was beat up. The cop was off-duty and half-drunk when he did it. Why don't they slap the book at him like they would anybody else? And why do the rest of you guys run around trying to stand up for him?"

The policeman's face screwed up like a man who'd been down that road before and knew how muddy it might be.

"That's what I mean," he said. "Actually I'm not sticking up for the guy just because he's a cop any more than you'd stick up for another newspaperman. I'm just saying that he's only human, and that plenty of other humans get plastered and take pokes at people."

"Yeah," said the newsman. "Sure but they don't have a badge in their pocket, a black-jack in their hand and a gun on their hip when they're doing it . . . and that's not all. What really makes the thing stink is that the cop was off duty at the time. He didn't have any excuse at all."

"Now wait a minute," said the cop. "The fact that he was off duty doesn't have a thing to do with it. Actually, you're never off duty on this job. You're just not in uniform. Why, what do you think I'd have to do if somebody came in here now and tried to stick up this joint?"

As he spoke, he shifted his coat back, covertly, so that the other two could see the revolver butt protruding.

"Understand," he said, "I'm not sticking up for this guy. It looks like he was in the wrong. But my point is, plenty of other people have pulled the same kind of trick, and all that happens to them is to get fined and get a paragraph in the paper and get bawled out by their wives and their bosses, and that's the end of it. But let a cop take a day off and get plastered and pull something like this, and everybody is on his neck!"

The lawyer moved into the talk. "Certainly," he said, "and for a very good reason. He's supposed to represent the law and order, regardless of whether—as you pointed out—he's in uniform or not. He not only knows the rules better than anybody else, he's also supposed to enforce them. So when he breaks them, it's a lot worse than the ordinary citizen doing it."

"Besides," put in the newspaperman, "too often, wrong cops like this one use the power they've been given to do their dirty work. They throw their weight around on the strength of their badge and gun—and the department behind them . . ."

ROSIE AND WINNIE—Remember Rosie the Riveter and Winnie the Welder? They are back in peacetime jobs, they have traded slacks and overalls for daintier attire. And they like it!

The United States Women's Bureau so states in a report based on a spot survey designed to find out what happened to the thousands of Rosies and Winnies who lost their wartime jobs after V-J Day.

The Bureau found that at Baltimore, a large industrial city, two-thirds of women war workers now have steady peacetime jobs. The agency said that women in factories have turned from such rugged jobs as welding and riveting to assembling, testing, inspecting, and operation of light machines. The report observed:

"Women like such work because it gives them an opportunity to use their natural dexterity, exercise responsibility, and pay attention to minute details."

However, war work had one major effect on women in industry. Before the war, more than 50 per cent of factory-employed women worked in garment or textile plants. Now they prefer metal working assignments.

FCC ECONOMY—The Federal Communications Commission is aligning itself with the current lower-prices campaign by pushing down the price of transcripts of commission testimony.

In inviting bids from stenographic reporting companies for the next fiscal year, the FCC emphasized the desirability of lowering the cost of transcripts to the radio industry and other interested parties.

Moreover, the commission announced that it will forego the $15,000 yearly bonus which the stenographic companies have paid the government in the past for the exclusive privilege of doing this work.

The companies make up the bonus through sale of transcripts to interested parties. The commission feels that in shunning the bonus it is setting a good example in the trend to save money for buyers.

Well, those two don't act so madly in love," laughed Bill, after they had gone. "And Rufus certainly won't get anywhere with Page's father if he goes after Mayor Giddings' favorites!"

"Page is going to New Orleans. In February," Diane said it indignantly.

"She is, is she? Di, I'll bet anything with you that those two never marry! Page won't hold out against her family."

Diane pushed a chair back into its usual place with a little violence. "If she really loves him—she began, then stopped.

"That's a funny thing to say. If she doesn't, why ever did she get into this jam?"

Diane did not want to talk about it. She answered a little impatiently and heedlessly: "Couldn't it be—second choice?"

Bill regarded her with some astonishment. "What do you mean?"

That she was in love with some other fellow?" Then: "She never gave any hint of it to me! And I think I was more in her confidence than anyone."

Irresistibly Diane laughed, having been given a solid front of alliance for Mrs. Winston to see. Page did not want it so, or Bill, who was reluctant to become involved, maybe Rufus, himself. "And I'm not sure I do, if Rufus is going to seem like a stranger!" She did not try to analyze the little feeling of loss she had.

She did not see either Page or Rufus for several weeks. Then, one day, in Delder's, she ran into Page. It was close to one o'clock and she said: "Can't we eat luncheon together?"

Page said quickly: "Sorry, I've more shopping to do and I'm meeting Mother and Aunt Beulah.

Diane had seen the withdrawing

"You've got it all wrong, Di, if that's what you're thinking! Page knew me too well to ever fall in love with me. We've been friends since we were in baby carriages." He laughed, but with some self-consciousness. "She'd tell you, fast enough, that you were all wrong to come. The reasons Page had offered were not wholly convincing to Diane and she suspected Page did not want to come.

But for all her persistence in bringing it about, the care she gave to the meal, the cocktails, the candlelight, the lovely arrangement of flowers in the center of the table, it wasn't a merry feast. Some restraint hung palpably over them.

Rufus and Bill started very soon talking of the fall campaign, disagreeing with spirit on certain candidates; Page appeared more inclined to listen to them than to engage in any talk on the side of Diane. Though Diane did not think she really was listening.

Diane found herself slipping into secret thoughts of Rufus.

Tonight, with Bill and Page present, he seemed closer an acquaintance than he had been that first evening he had come here with Page. It was hard to believe they had had those little intimate talks together, not many, to be sure, but each so somehow important! She had a crazy impulse to break into his and Bill's discussion, say: "Rufus, talk to ME!" Claim him.

He looked different. Better groomed, it was. Really amazingly well dressed and not a hair on his head out of line with its fellows! Living up to Page, when it should be she.

DIET AND HEALTHPain in the Shoulder May Be One of Several Disorders

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

IT is not always easy to ferret out the cause of any particular pain. Some types of pain are unmistakable but others may be equally characteristic of several different ailments.

Thus the patient afflicted with brachial neuritis experiences a pain which starts in the shoulder and passes downward into the arm. But so does the man with angina pectoris, a disease caused by spasm of the arteries which supply the heart with blood. So does the individual suffering from inflammation of the fluid-containing sac or b

Women's Society of Christian Service members of the First Methodist church planned and arranged a reception Sunday evening in the diningroom of the church for the Rev. Elisha Kneisley, new pastor, and Mrs. Kneisley. The Rev. Mr. Kneisley formerly was located in Lima and came here to replace the Rev. Clarence Swearingen who was assigned to London. All members and friends of the church were extended invitations to the social affair, to meet and welcome the new minister and his wife.

Mrs. Robbins Lilly was chairman of the outstanding event and was assisted for all arrangements by Mrs. C. F. Abernethy, Mrs. Earl Hilyard, Mrs. Leslie Pontius, Mrs. R. R. Bales, Mrs. George Welker and Mrs. W. S. Gerhart. Mrs. Frank Bowling was in charge of refreshments and was assisted by Mrs. Charles Fullen, Mrs. G. D. Phillips, Mrs. Barton Demming, Mrs. Dwight Steele and Mrs. Walter F. Heine.

Mrs. R. R. Bales presented the guests to Mr. and Mrs. Kneisley. Assembly room and diningroom of the church were decorated for the occasion with large baskets of Summer garden flowers and bouquets of roses.

Dr. G. D. Phillips, chairman of pastoral relations committee, presided for the program which opened with the group joining to sing "America the Beautiful." Mrs. L. S. Lytle, president of Women's Society of Christian Service gave the welcoming address. Miss Beverly Reid in her group of vocal solos sang "Sing Me To Sleep", "By The Bend Of The River", and "The Top Of The Morning". Mrs. Earl Hilyard superintendent of the Sunday school spoke on behalf of the Sunday school. Robert Sprouse sang, "Clorinda", "Ah Love, But a Day" and "Sea Fever". Miss Jeannette Wernrich accompanied Miss Reid and Robert Sprouse at the piano for their vocal solos, then played a group of piano solos. Robert Phillips, president of the Youth Fellowship organization extended a welcome from that society.

Dr. W. L. Sprouse welcomed the new pastor and his wife on behalf of all members of the church. The Rev. Donald E. Mitchell, pastor of the Presbyterian church gave a few remarks as a member of the Pickaway County Ministerial association. Edward Wolf, James Bartholomew, Joyce Troutman, Charles Magill accompanied by Sue Brown at the piano and Robert Phillips on the chimes presented "Misericordia" from Il Trovatore. Responses of accepting the new charge were given by Mr. and Mrs. Kneisley.

Tea and refreshments were served to more than 100 guests from a beautifully appointed tea table. Mrs. Lytle and Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh presided at the lace covered tea table which was centered with a low bowl of pink rosebuds and flanked by tall burning pink tapers.

ANNA M. FOSTER
IS BRIDE OF
JOHN L. DUNKLE

St John's Evangelical and Reformed church, Dayton, was the setting on Saturday, June 7 for the wedding of Miss Anna Mae Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forest Foster, Dayton, and John Leslie Dunkle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Dunkle, route 1 Circleville. W. R. Grunewald and the Rev. D. Stanley Dunkle, Columbus, brother of the bridegroom, officiated for the double ring ceremony at 4:30 p.m. before an alter flanked by tall palms and large baskets of white peonies and sweet peas before a background of peach gladioli.

Given in marriage by her father the bride approached the altar in a traditional white satin wedding gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, tight bodice and a sweeping skirt extending to a full cathedral train. Her headdress of white satin bows embroidered in seed pearls held a fingertip veil of illusion. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls a gift from the bridegroom. An orchid centered her bridal bouquet of sweet peas and white rose buds.

Wearing a frock of orchid chiffon over matching taffeta fashioned the same as the one worn by the bride, Miss Dorothy Foster attended her sister as maid of honor. White ostrich feathers were arranged in her hair and she wore long white lace mitts. Her bouquet was yellow Japanese iris, yellow roses, sweetpeas and snapdragons tied with a bow of orchid ribbon.

MISS LEE Guernsey, Dayton, and sisters of the bridegroom, Miss Helen Dunkle, Circleville, and Mrs. David Glick, route 3, were bridesmaids, in frocks of yellow, light blue and peach, fashioned with sweetheart neck lines and long skirts. Paul Seigwald, Circleville, was best man and seating the guests were David Glick, route 3, Harry Clifton, Jr., Pinckney street and Ralph Ankrom, South Court street.

Half hour of pre-nuptial music was presented by Joe Albright, Dayton, who sang, "I Love You Truly," "Oh Promise Me," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer". Mr. and Mrs. Foster were Mrs. Alfred E. M. Louer and sons, Edwin and Roger, Highland Park, Illinois, will arrive Tuesday for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Frank J. Bennet, South Court street, and her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Howard White, Saltcreek township.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Huffer and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Matz and daughter, Karen, in their home in Russells Point.

hosts at a reception immediately following the ceremony to 150 guests. The home, was decorated on the occasion with Summer garden flowers. A large three-tiered wedding cake and a punch bowl were placed on the bride's table flanked by candles in crystal holders.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Foster wore an aqua dress with white accessories. Mrs. Dunkle, mother of the bridegroom wore a sheer light blue dress and used white accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of pink carnations and sweet peas.

When the new Mr. and Mrs. Dunkle left for their wedding trip through northern Ohio the bride had changed to a gray Summer suit accented with white accessories, the orchid from her bridal bouquet was pinned at her shoulder. The bride is a graduate of Dayton high school and the bridegroom is a graduate of Pickaway township high school. Both are employed in Dayton, and will make their home at 40 Almerwin Terrace.

In Memoriam

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of our dear son, Ralph G. Baker who was killed in combat duty in Okinawa June 9, 1945.

He heard the news of his country and answered it brave and true:

"I'm a man to do or die

I'm going to help them through."

The Great Commander has written his

On the roll of him who gave

His only begotten son.

And died that we might live

He paid the debt of every man.

In right for right he has won;

And King of Kings has spoken:

"Thou faithful one, well done."

Sadly missed by Father, Mother and Fiance Mary K. Badger.

Delegates To 4-H Junior Leadership Course Named

JEAN CAMPBELL,
KENNETH REID
SENT TO CAMP

Youths Will Represent County
At Sessions Which
Start Monday

Jean Campbell, Williamsport, route 2 and Kenneth Reid, Williamsport, route 1 have been selected to represent Pickaway County 4-H Club members at Ohio 4-H junior leadership camp at Camp Ohio, June 9-14.

Jean is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Campbell and has been outstanding in 4-H club work and school work as well as taking an active part in various youth and community groups.

She is a member of the Wayne township home economics and livestock 4-H clubs. Jean has taken eleven projects in her seven years of club work; has held all of the different club offices and has been active in various club activities.

KENNETH is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Reid and for the last two years has been president of the Junior Farmers of Monroe 4-H club. He has taken a total of ten livestock projects in his seven years of club work.

The Monroe Club has been one of the largest clubs in the county for the last several years and during the last few years, Kenneth has assisted and helped younger members with their projects and record books.

He has been a top club member and school student and one of Pickaway county's good athletes.

Camp Ohio is located 15 miles North East of Newark.

The leadership camp is sponsored by Ohio Farmers Insurance Company in co-operation with the agricultural extension service.

LANCASTER GIRL KILLED WHEN AUTO HITS TREE

LANCASTER, O., June 9—A 17-year-old Lancaster girl was instantly killed last night and two other persons were critically injured when the car in which they were riding crashed into a tree on route 37 two miles north of Lancaster.

Mrs. George Roller died of a broken neck, while the driver of the vehicle, Robert Friend, 26, also of Lancaster, was taken to Lancaster hospital and treated for chest injuries and a possible skull fracture. Friend's wife, Freda, also 26, received a broken arm, head cuts and possible internal injuries.

Mrs. Roller's death was the eighth traffic fatality recorded in Franklin county for 1947.

Earlier, Miss Lila Cook, 17, Mansfield, was taken to Lancaster hospital with a broken back and fractured right ankle after a car driven by her father, Albert T. Cook, 57, failed to make a curve and overturned eight miles north of Lancaster on route 37. Cook's wife, Mildred, 41, was also taken to the Lancaster hospital. She was treated for a fractured right shoulder and other injuries.

Floods, Storms Kill 21 Persons

SWOLLEN RIVERS SPREAD DAMAGE TO FARM LANDS

Ohio Cleaning Up After Tornado And Flash Floods Strike

By International News Service The Mississippi river smashed through its levees today and rolled over thousands of acres of rich Illinois and Missouri farm lands, adding immeasurably to the misery and property damage caused by floods and tornadoes over the weekend.

Throughout the nation a known 21 persons died in floods and storms.

Levee breaks occurred between Keokuk, Ia., where the Des Moines river poured its waters into the Mississippi, and St. Louis, Mo.

NO DEATHS were reported in the area flooded by the Mississippi, although one village, Alexandria, Mo., was swept by the raging river.

Ottumwa, Ia., caught the full force of the swollen Des Moines. Ten persons were known to have perished and rescue workers said the death toll may reach 20. An estimated 15,000 of the city's population of 40,000 were homeless.

Violent tornadoes took another ten lives in Ohio and Pennsylvania. At Sharon, Pa., three persons were killed by the twister, and the property damage was estimated at one million dollars.

The tornado also struck Mercer and Grove City, in Pennsylvania, and Youngstown, Warren, Vienna, Deforest, Niles and Ravenna, in Ohio. In the Vienna area three persons, including an 18-months-old infant boy, perished.

AGED VETERANS ATTENDING 81ST GAR MEETING

COLUMBUS, O., June 9 — The bugle sounded today in Columbus for the 18th annual Ohio encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic.

And two faithful and stalwart centenarian veterans answered the roll-call—John H. Grate, 101, Atwater and John R. Bennett, 102, Waynesfield.

Grate is both state and national commander of the GAR, which still has seven living members in Ohio and not quite 200 in the nation.

The national leader expressed his determination to attend the annual encampment by stating: "I would have come if I would have had to walk."

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kierman

Ghandi says he has no plan for a hunger strike like most of us these days he will attempt to go on eating as long as possible.

Now we are threatened with a shortage of gasoline. The official explanation has shifted slightly from "this is war" to "this is peace!"

But there is some prospect that sugar rationing will be discontinued—but the feeling is that we can be trusted with unlimited sweetmeats just prior to an election year.

In Tokyo, the Tojo trial now is in its second year. The third act still is not quite ready.

Jackson Township Resident Killed In Accident On Kaiser Farm

Funeral for Thomas "Tucker" Wardell, 45, Route 3, who was killed Saturday, will be held Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. in the First Methodist church.

Mr. Wardell suffered fatal injuries Saturday afternoon in a freak accident while he was operating a power shovel on the John Kaiser farm situated on the Goose Pond road 12 miles northwest of Circleville. The accident occurred about 1:30 p.m.

When the scoop became mired in the mud Mr. Wardell maneuvered the ditching outfit in an attempt to extricate the shovel. Suddenly the cable broke. It shattered the cab window and struck him on his chest and side.

Staggering from the cab Mr. Wardell collapsed and died a few moments later. A fellow-worker, Mr. Drake, told Deputy Sheriff Vern L. Pontious he did not see the accident but that he noticed Mr. Wardell on the ground. He said Mr. Wardell succumbed soon after swallowing some water which he had requested.

MR. WARDELL was born in Deer Creek township, October 15, 1901, the son of Thomas and Mary Metzger Wardell, who live near Clarksburg.

Also surviving are his widow, Mrs. Wilma Dewey Wardell; one son, Thomas Wardell III; two daughters, Myra and Nancy; two brothers, Clarence Wardell, East Main street, and Joseph Wardell, near Clarksburg; four sisters, Mrs. George Immell, (Continued on Page Two)

TWO MEN KILLED IN TRUCK CRASH HOUSE DAMAGED

ELYRIA, OHIO, June 9—Two men were killed, another was injured and a house was damaged as oxygen and acetylene tanks exploded following a collision of two trucks at North Ridgeville today.

The victims were identified as Joe Dorogi, 38, a driver for the Air Reduction Sales company of Cleveland, and his helper, Aug. 28, both of Cleveland.

Witnesses said that the tank truck upset after colliding with a trailer-truck on U.S. route 20. Walter Calhoun, 50, Elyria, driver of the Lehman cartage company trailer-truck, escaped injury.

A series of explosions, lasting for more than a half-hour, broke out in the tank truck. Shrapnel-like fragments of steel were scattered over a large area. The victims, trapped in the cab of the truck, were burned beyond recognition.

Wedley Blaycock, 21, visiting at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Gordon Hyder, 28, was cut by flying glass. The Hyder cottage was seared by flames and all the windows smashed by the explosion.

Final preparations were being completed Monday for the Tuesday night celebration which is to mark the "lighting" of Circleville's new downtown boulevard lighting system.

Gayety will reign during the program scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock and will be centered at Court and Main streets.

To permit the full use of the streets for the ceremonies signalizing the placing in operation of the 37-unit street lighting system all traffic will be detoured and all parking will be banned.

CLIFTON TRIAL BEGINS; JURY CHOSEN QUICKLY

State's witnesses were scheduled to testify Monday afternoon in the trial of George Clifton, 24, indicted on a burglary charge in connection with the $1,300 robbery at the Howard Hall Post No. 134, American Legion, 136 East Main street. The burglary occurred the night of Nov. 9, 1946.

Thrice postponed, the trial got away to a fast start Monday morning in Pickaway county common pleas court, with Judge William D. Radcliff presiding.

A panel of 30 potential jurors had been summoned for service.

The proceedings began at 10:25 a.m., and 35 minutes later the jury of seven women and five men had been impaneled and sworn.

In questioning the members of the jury panel Defense Attorney Joseph W. Adkins disclosed that he expected the trial to last four days.

Prosecuting Attorney Kenneth Robbins and Assistant Prosecutor Emmitt L. Crist will present the state's case against Clifton. More than a dozen prosecution witnesses are expected to testify.

The jurors are: I. P. Todd, Circleville township; Helen Smith, Williamsport; Mrs. Hansen Peters, Madison township; Leotta Heffner, Salt Creek township; Ellen Dunlap, Deer Creek township; Glenn Hamilton, Muhlenberg township; Mrs. Guy Cline, Harrison township; Wayne Brown, Madison township; Alfred Hill, Scioto township; Rose Hobble, Perry township; E. C. Schwartz and Alice L. Dick.

MAN'S NECK IS BROKEN WHEN TRUCK OVERTURNS

David Moore, 27, Sedalia, was in Mt. Carmel hospital at Columbus, Monday, suffering from a broken neck.

State Highway Patrolman L. G. Ridenour said Mr. Moore was injured at 4 a.m. Sunday when he lost control of a pickup truck he drove on the Washington-Waterloo road in Fayette county a short distance from the Pickaway county boundary. The truck turned over in a field.

Funerals Held While Police Continue Probe Of Ohio Hospital Mystery

BULLETIN

MASSILLON, O., June 9— Stark county officials suddenly entered the Massillon baby death case today with a dramatic announcement that they were taking the father of one of the two infants to Cleveland for a lie detector test.

W. Bernard Rodgers, assistant county prosecutor, made it clear to newsmen that the decision to give Harry E. Morton the examination was "round-time."

MASSILLON, O., June 9—One of the most bizarre hospital mysteries in the nation's history seemed to be taking still another strange turn today.

From the original theory that a maniac killer murdered ten-week-old Diane Jean Brand and nine-week-old Rose Mary Morton in their Massillon city hospital cribs last Friday night, police shifted their probe to the possibility that the infant girls were killed accidentally and possibly by a child.

The lights then will be turned on, after which a 30-minute fireworks display will be touched off at Court and Main streets.

BECAUSE the old street lights in the downtown area will remain until Tuesday night the committee has urged all merchants to leave their show windows and electric signs turned on.

The re-routing of traffic will be over Scioto, Franklin, Pickaway and High streets. All parking will be prohibited within a one-half block radius of Court and Main streets beginning with the Tuesday night store closing time.

The celebration will be under auspices of the Chamber of Commerce. The committee in charge is composed of Mayor Gordon, chairman; County Treasurer Robert G. Colville, Safety Director Thurman I. Miller, and Mr. Gilmore.

Each new boulevard light is of 10,000 candlepower, each is suspended 25 feet above the street, and the lights will burn all night every night in the year.

ROBERT NORPOTH PINNED UNDER FARM TRACTOR

Having miraculously escaped serious injury when he was pinned for an hour under an overturned tractor, Robert Norpeth, 37, Route 2, Ashville, was in Berger hospital, Circleville, Monday, undergoing treatment for numerous cuts and bruises.

Mr. Norpeth was operating the tractor on the Ringgold-Morrissey road at his Walnut township farm at 11 a.m. Sunday and was crossing a small bridge over a ditch when a rear wheel of the tractor left the bridge, thus causing the tractor to turn over.

Members of the Norpeth family, aided by several neighbors, worked frantically for 60 minutes to extricate Mr. Norpeth, who was removed to the hospital in Defebaugh's ambulance. Examination disclosed no broken bones and apparently no internal injuries.

The Norpeth family formerly lived on Beverly road, Route 2, Circleville.

RATIONING OF SUGAR

May Be Ended June 30

WASHINGTON, June 9—The agriculture department is considering ending home sugar rationing June 30.

It was authoritatively learned today that a final decision is dependent largely upon the following three factors:

1. Continued regular shipments of sugar from Cuba, whose crop has exceeded agriculture department estimates.

2. No maritime strike.

3. No increase in present consumer consumption.

Under existing law, both home sugar rationing and controls over the allocation of sugar to industrial users will end Oct. 31 unless terminated earlier by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson.

If the department decides that home rationing can not be ended yet, additional supplies of sugar probably will be made available to housewives through another rationing stamp.

Anderson said housewives probably would then receive another five pounds of sugar for general use before rationing ended or 10 pounds for home tarts could be placed on the latter.

He pointed out that last year

canning, provided some restriction, the housewife received 25 pounds, of which 15 was for general home use and 10 for canning.

This year, he stated, she is already assured, even without any future increase, of at least 35 pounds for general use.

Anderson was to send the house banking and currency committee today the draft of a bill directing that increased supplies of sugar be allocated to housewives for canning.

Braden estimated before a closed session of the house appropriations subcommittee on government corporations in testimony made public today that there were at least 574,000 Communists in the western hemisphere.

He emphasized, however, that in the 1947 Brazilian elections the Communist vote was 390,807, whereas their reported membership was 130,000.

THE RETIRING assistant secretary, who will relinquish on June 30 control over the Latin American affairs division, warned that Communists have members in "high positions" throughout Latin America.

Braden estimated there were approximately 300,000 Communists in South America, approximately 200,000 in the Central America and Caribbean area, and about 74,000 in the United States. He gave no estimate for Canada or Mexico.

Their whole objective, he stressed, is "destructive one, a tearing down process."

BRADEN stated:

"Their whole program is to create chaos at every turn. They are in on every potential revolution and it does not matter who is behind it. It may be started by an ultra-conservative, but, nevertheless, the Communists will join up with it, because that is a part of their system of creating chaos. Of course, they ridicule and criticize our system of democracy. Throughout Latin America they have got men even in high positions as well as elsewhere."

Braden asserted that the great

In the Sterling, Colo., area a tornado cut a 20-mile-long path of devastation, leveling ranch homes and destroying wheat crops.

At Quincy, where flood control headquarters were set up, the Mississippi reached a record stage of 23.6 feet, but was reported receding today.

At Ottumwa, thousands of the population sought emergency refuge in churches, parks, schools and government buildings.

Army and Navy doctors fought the specter of typhoid fever as the city's water supply diminished.

A portable purifier was brought in from Kansas City to employ on water from the municipal swimming pool to render it safe for human consumption.

The Navy reported it had given anti-typhoid injections to about 800 refugees quartered in the nearby naval air station barracks. Enough serum was available for 21,000 injections.

AT CHILlicothe, Mo., the Grand river overflowed its banks and took a million-dollar toll of crops and livestock.

At Kansas City, the weather bureau predicted that all of the northern Missouri river tributaries would be receding today.

Flood warnings on the Missouri and Kaw rivers above Kansas City were removed.

THE UNCONTROLLABLE elements left a trail of death, misery and destruction in Ohio today as many parts of the state went about the job of cleaning up after a tornado and flash floods.

Damage was expected to total more than a half-million dollars.

Three persons were dead and more than 100 suffered injuries from the twister that battered eastern Ohio over a broad area stretching from Ravenna into the Warren-Youngstown district and over the state line into Sharon, Pa., Saturday afternoon.

At the same time the tornado was leveling homes, farm buildings and uprooting thousands of trees, near-cloudbursts flooded streams and washed out planted farmlands in the lowlands of Scioto and Adams county and in northern Kentucky.

WITH 2.48 inches of rain in the Portsmouth area in a little over 24 hours, the Scioto river spilled over its banks, flooding hundreds of acres of rich bottomlands between Portsmouth and Lucasville.

Blue creek in Adams county reached the highest stage in the memory of residents there. Turkey creek, west of Portsmouth, also rolled out of its banks, sending several families fleeing to safety ahead of the rushing waters.

The Blanchard river at Findlay was receding today after reaching a 10-year record high and most other streams were getting back into their banks following record crests.

The Chesapeake area reported the heaviest rainfall over the state. For the 24-hour period be-

WILSON THROWS TEETH AT CHIEF FOLLOWING ARREST

Nonon Wilson, 41, Circleville, who hurled his false teeth at Police Chief William F. McCrady, was in the city jail Monday awaiting a hearing before Mayor Ben H. Gordon on charges of intoxication and disorderly conduct.

Arrested on West Main street by Patrolmen Alva Shasten and John W. McGinnis, Wilson became angered in police headquarters, removed his teeth, and threw them at Chief McCrady. The snappers clattered to the floor. Wilson, who has been arrested on numerous occasions and similar occasions, retrieved the unbroken teeth and slipped them back into his mouth.

A FLASH flood hit Willoughby in Lake county Saturday and route 20 through the town was blocked for several hours.

The weather improved over Sunday and there was no additional rain occurring over the state today. However, the forecast for tomorrow included scattered thundershowers throughout Ohio.

Forecasters said there was no definite or large rain area at the moment, but that the sun was picking up considerable moisture for the sky to drop again as showers.

Switter denied at the same time reports that one of the seven children had confessed pulling the two infants from their cribs while Nurse Marian Silleck worked in an adjoining sun room.

WHILE THE new lead was being traced, Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Morton and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Brand, parents of the dead babies, prepared for funeral services this afternoon.

The police probe revealed that three of the seven children were ambulatory patients last Friday night and were allowed to play freely in and out of the sunroom and the corridor.

It was still unexplained how any of the children, all three under seven years old, could have pulled the babies from their cribs to the floor and then lifted them back. Miss Silleck told officials that the dying infants infants were in their cribs when she returned and that their injuries were so recent that swellings were just beginning to appear.

The newer theory of accidental death also conflicted with Coroner Reno's official verdict of homicide.

THROUGHOUT the three-day investigation, police have been baffled by lack of clues to point to murderer and lack of any obvious motive for such a crime.

Ralph Fricks, who was visiting his nine-year-old son in a room directly across from that in which the mystery deaths occurred, told authorities he neither saw nor heard anything unusual.

The mystery deaths have turned up some of the strangest angles ever encountered by veteran Ohio newsmen.

These included the first word of the deaths 12 hours after they occurred through a dramatic release from the hospital.

The two infant victims were to be buried today from the Massillon funeral home where the bodies were taken. Flowers and messages of sympathy poured in, reflecting the feelings of a community shocked by the deaths of the two infants.

JESSE JONES SEES NO EARLY U.S. DEPRESSION

Former RFC Chief Urges
Continuing Bureau But
Reducing Power

WASHINGTON, June 9—Jesse H. Jones, Texas multi-millionaire and former head of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, told congress today that the nation faces no threat of an early depression.

Jones, in a statement to the house banking and currency committee, urged continuation of the RFC but recommended repeal of many of its present powers.

The Houston capitalist, once one of the powerful figures of the late President Roosevelt's new deal, told the committee:

"While there is considerable talk nowadays about a recession in business, I do not believe we can talk ourselves into a depression."

JONES DECLARED that some reduction in the price of necessities is "highly desirable." He said this would help lower the cost of living. He added:

"I see no possibility of a depression in the near future."

"There is urgent necessity of construction work of every character, public and private, throughout the country. There is a shortage of homes to live in, and homes for business."

JONES NOTED that the nation's banks and financial institutions are "in excellent condition." But he pointed out that the RFC can serve a good purpose as a "standby" in assuring credit at reasonable rates and terms.

The ex-RFC chief acknowledged that "there are some clouds on the horizon, international-wise, that could affect our economy."

The Texan added that since the war emergency is over, RFC should revert to its original purpose of domestic emergency lending and that its operations should be simplified by liquidating its subsidiaries into RFC proper.

Soil Conservation Notes

By J. A. Muster

Failure of state average crop yields to increase materially with the use of larger amounts of lime and fertilizer, higher yielding and more disease resistant crop varieties, increased tile drainage and the substitution of new land for abandoned acres, all point to the declining productivity of most Ohio soils. The combined effect of practices mentioned should have increased yields by more than 50 percent had the original productive capacity of the soil been maintained.

that the productivity of soils can be maintained and in many cases increased by continuous use of established soil and water conservation principles.

A FEW CONDITIONS existing today that reveal in a general way what has happened to Ohio's farm land resource's are: The fertility level of a large acreage of farm land has been depleted to such a low point that it is no longer used for crop production; a half century of prevailing farm practices has destroyed from a fourth to a half of the organic matter content of several major soil types; new tile drainage systems at two-rod spacings and new capital investments of up to $80 per acre are being installed on tiled lands that were drained successfully 50 years ago at line spacings of four to six rods. Soil structure has deteriorated under prevailing practices to such a degree that the land has lost its internal drainage capacity, and more than a fourth of the top soil has eroded away from nearly a third of the farm lands of Ohio while all the top soil has been lost by erosion from a sixth of the land and gullies have essentially ruined six percent of Ohio land for cultivation.

Lawrence Liston, chairman of the Rotary club's agriculture committee and members George Armstrong, Herb Schneider, Sterley Croman, Ward Robinson and Larry Best met Thursday in the Soil Conservation office to discuss plans to promote increased soil and water conservation farm planning to overcome the decline in soil productivity brought on by excessive cropping during the recent war production.

BOMBS AND SUCH

THE LAST great war, as all the world knows, was won by the atomic bomb invented and used by the United States. Two strokes served the purpose. It might be assumed by the average man, at home or abroad, that the shock of this experience would last forever—or at least for a period long enough to put the nations in general well on the road to permanent peace and co-operation. The world is so little now, and the perils are so great! Yet a presidential commission at Washington, making an appeal for universal military training, declares flatly that our nation could become involved in war at any time, through aggression from some distant part of the world.

It is a sobering suggestion, and it might be true, that we need not expect more than four to ten years of immunity to "sneak attacks" from abroad, or even in our own cities. Broadly speaking, the world lies open to such alien assaults as have hardly been dreamed of except by such imaginative writers as Jules Verne in former generations.

With this outlook, it might be supposed that not only scientists, but men in general, would be alert to check statements and make the public take such matters seriously, and use every effort to bring the civilized world into harmony with modern life and its perils.

LESSONS FROM THE PAST

NOW THAT the world's concern with the immediacy of war is over, man can give attention again to the mystery of his past. Archaeologists are returning to their diggings, and unearthing evidence that human nature doesn't change much, despite the passing of centuries.

A University of Pennsylvania authority recently announced the deciphering of a 5,000-year-old clay tablet which shows that the ancient Mesopotamians were thoroughly familiar with psychological warfare. The strange hieroglyphics reveal that an old-time king conquered another tribe after his first dire threats failed, when he finally changed his tactics, sent them gifts of food and promised them happiness and freedom from war. They promptly got rid of their own despotic ruler and joined him.

Few nations fight for the sake of war itself. They take up arms to achieve basic rights: freedom, peace, food, shelter, happiness. If they can be persuaded that such objectives are attainable without warfare, they pick the peaceful method. Man has been a long time learning this lesson, but it is none the less true and sound.

The archaeologists are not really discovering anything new. But we could have a new world if we learned from their findings. Their work is important, and it is well that they can go back to it.

Try as he may, Uncle Sam can't really make this world over alone. The other 50-odd nations will have to help him.

U. S. Has Too Many Potatoes; Hungry Britons Spurn Spuds, That Is, Not Greenbacks | Insisting They Carry a Blight

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Agriculture department officials are casting cautious glances at the 1947 potato crop, which may be a bonanza like last year's when many millions of bushels were destroyed to keep prices up.

Already a relatively small amount of the 1947 potato crop has been destroyed in Alabama. How much more of it will have to be disposed of by the government is yet unknown—and will remain unknown until the northern states crop is harvested.

Under a mandate of Congress, the government is forced to pay subsidies to potato growers when the market price falls below parity. This cost Uncle Sam a good bit of money last year and lost a lot of potatoes from the bumper crop.

Now angry cries are heard in Congress about the government destroying potatoes from the 1947 crop. Most of the blasts come from new congressmen, who—department officials say privately—do not know the law about potatoes, or that Congress ordered the subsidy.

The United States has tried to give potatoes to the starving people abroad, but they will not take them. Great Britain, which has a terrible food shortage, will not accept United States potatoes, claiming they have a disease which would blight British spuds.

The situation: The government is spending the taxpayers' money to keep the price of potatoes up so the taxpayers will have to pay more for them.

ASSIGNMENT: AMERICA

By Kenneth L. Dixon

Distributed by International News Service

WASHINGTON, June 9 — The policemen and the lawyer and the newspaperman were sitting at the table. They'd been sitting there a long time—so long that the waiter, in irritation, hadn't bothered to remove the coffee cups or the overflowing ashtray.

"Look," said the policeman, who was in plain clothes since it was his day off, "you got to realize that cops are human, too. Once you do that, the whole thing is perfectly plain."

The newspaperman shook his head.

"I don't see that," he said. "I mean, of course cops are human—but I don't see where that has anything to do with it. The kid was beat up. The cop was off-duty and half-drunk when he did it. Why don't they slap the book at him like they would anybody else? And why do the rest of you guys run around trying to stand up for him?"

The policeman's face screwed up like a man who'd been down that road before and knew how muddy it might be.

"That's what I mean," he said. "Actually I'm not sticking up for the guy just because he's a cop any more than you'd stick up for another newspaperman. I'm just saying that he's only human, and that plenty of other humans get plastered and take pokes at people."

"Yeah," said the newsman. "Sure but they don't have a badge in their pocket, a black-jack in their hand and a gun on their hip when they're doing it... and that's not all. What really makes the thing stink is that the cop was off duty at the time. He didn't have any excuse at all."

"Now wait a minute," said the cop. "The fact that he was off duty doesn't have a thing to do with it. Actually, you're never off duty on this job. You're just not in uniform. Why, what do you think I'd have to do if somebody came in here now and tried to stick up this joint?"

As he spoke, he shifted his coat back, covertly, so that the other two could see the revolver butt protruding.

"Understand," he said, "I'm not sticking up for this guy. It looks like he was in the wrong. But my point is, plenty of other people have pulled the same kind of trick, and all that happens to them is to get fined and get a paragraph in the paper and get bawled out by their wives and their bosses, and that's the end of it. But let a cop take a day off and get plastered and pull something like this, and everybody is on his neck!"

The lawyer moved into the talk.

"Certainly," he said, "and for a very good reason. He's supposed to represent the law and order, regardless of whether—as you pointed out—he's in uniform or not. He not only knows the rules better than anybody else, he's also supposed to enforce them. So when he breaks them, it's a lot worse than the ordinary citizen doing it."

"Besides," put in the newspaperman, "too often, wrong cops like this one use the power they've been given to do their dirty work. They throw their weight around on the strength of their badge and gun—and the department behind them. . . ."

• ROSIE AND WINNIE—Remember Rosie the Riveter and Winnie the Welder? They are back in peacetime jobs, they have traded slacks and overalls for daintier attire. And they like it!

The United States Women's Bureau so states in a report based on a spot survey designed to find out what happened to the thousands of Rosies and Winnies who lost their wartime jobs after V-J Day.

The Bureau found that at Baltimore, a large industrial city, two-thirds of women war workers now have steady peacetime jobs.

The agency said that women in factories have turned from such rugged jobs as welding and riveting to assembling, testing, inspecting, and operation of light machines. The report observed:

"Women like such work because it gives them an opportunity to use their natural dexterity, exercise responsibility, and pay attention to minute details."

However, war work had one major effect on women in industry. Before the war, more than 50 per cent of factory-employed women worked in garment or textile plants. Now they prefer metal working assignments.

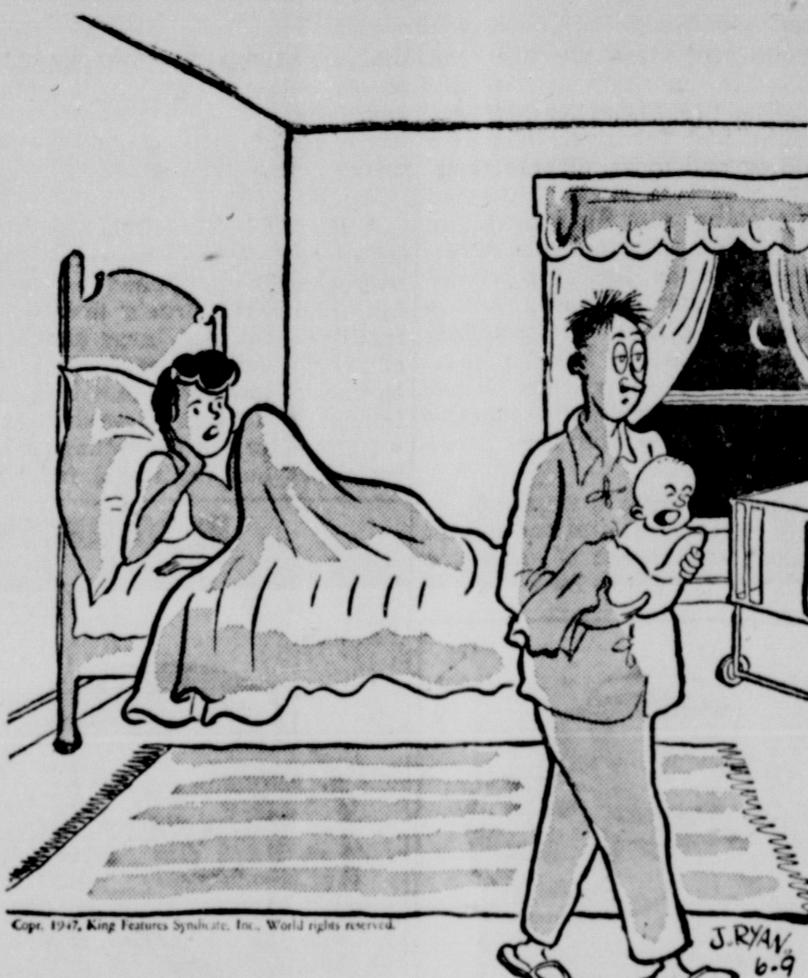

• FCC ECONOMY—The Federal Communications Commission is aligning itself with the current lower-prices campaign by pushing down the price of transcripts of commission testimony.

In inviting bids from stenographic reporting companies for the next fiscal year, the FCC emphasized the desirability of lowering the cost of the transcripts to the radio industry and other interested parties.

Moreover, the commission announced that it will forego the $15,000 yearly bonus which the stenographic companies have paid the government in the past for the exclusive privilege of doing this work.

The companies make up the bonus through sale of transcripts to interested parties. The commission feels that in shunning the bonus it is setting a good example in the trend to save money for buyers.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

THE BEST PLAN OF ALL

WITH SEVERAL courses of action available, to strive for his contract, the sound declarer in rubber bridge adopts that which protects him against the largest number of possible distributions which could endanger his success.

If he can provide against every risk, he should do so. If only a couple of distributions will enable him to make the contract, he should seek to play so that either of them will suit him. If only one distribution makes his contract possible, he should play for that. The true safety play principle is to go for all the possible distributions he can that will bring him in with the bacon. If he must choose between two possibilities, he should select the more likely.

Following the club Q lead, he decided that his contract could be made in only one way—by dropping a singleton K. So he led the spade 5 to the second trick and came up with the A. This left the K out, so he could not help losing a trick to it.

West's unwise double should have caused South to decide West had the spade K and expected the A to be in South's hand. Anchoring to that basic idea, he should have played so as to protect his contract against the only possible situation which could bring success.

If West had the guarded K, that would be by playing East for a singleton J. Had he done this, the Q lead would have assured his contract, whether West covered it or not.

ANNA M. FOSTER
JOHN L. DUNKLE

John's Evangelical and Reformed church, Dayton, was the setting on Saturday, June 7 for the wedding of Miss Anna Mae Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forest Foster, Dayton, and John Leslie Dunkle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Dunkle, route 1 Circleville. Dr. W. R. Grunwald and the Rev. D. Stanley Dunkle, Columbus, brother of the bridegroom, officiated for the double ring ceremony at 4:30 p. m. before an altar flanked by tall palms and large baskets of white peonies and sweet peas before a background of peach gladioli.

Given in marriage by her father the bride approached the altar in a traditional white satin wedding gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, tight bodice and a sweeping skirt extending to a full cathedral train. Her headdress of white satin bows embroidered in seed pearls held a fingertip veil of illusion. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls a gift from the bridegroom. An orchid centered her bridal bouquet of sweet peas and white rose buds.

Wearing a frock of orchid chiffon over matching taffeta fashioned the same as the one worn by the bride, Miss Dorothy Foster attended her sister as maid of honor. White ostrich feathers were arranged in her hair and she wore long white lace mitts. Her bouquet was yellow Japanese iris, yellow roses, sweetpeas and snapdragons tied with a bow of orchid ribbon.

MISS LEE Guernsey, Dayton, and sisters of the bridegroom Miss Helen Dunkle, Circleville, and Mrs. David Glick, route 3, were bridesmaids, in frocks of yellow, light blue and peach, fashioned with sweetheart neck lines and long skirts. Paul Seigwald, Circleville, was best man and seating the guests were David Glick, route 3, Harry Clifton, Jr., Pinckney street and Ralph Ankrom, South Court street.

Half hour of pre-nuptial music was presented by Joe Albright, Dayton, who sang, "I Love You Truly," "Oh Promise Me," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer".

In Memoriam

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of our dear son, Ralph G. Baker who was killed in combat duty in Okinawa June 9th 1945. He served the country with honor and answered it brave and true.

"I'll be a man to do or die
I'm going to help them through."
The Great Commander has written his name in history.

On the roll of him who gave
His only begotten son.

And died that we might live.
He paid the debt of country.

In his fight for right he has won;
And the King of Kings has spoken:

"Thou faithful one, well done."

Sadly missed by Father, Mother and Fiance Mary Badger.

The majority of the orchestras on the air change personnel frequently, even to the extent of building entire new combinations. But not so with Meredith Willson's music men, whose slogan is "Here today; here tomorrow!" With but two exceptions, all the musicians in Meredith's orchestra on the Burns and Allen and "Family Theater" programs have been with Willson since he started in Hollywood a decade ago. And the two "newcomers"

Let your pleasure be taken as Daniel took his prayer, with his windows open—pleasures which need not cause a single blush on an ingenuous cheek. — Theodore Parker

Hints on Etiquette

The woman usually thanks the man for a pleasant evening when he takes her home from a date; then the man should thank her for the date, both being informal about the matter.

Today's Horoscope

If this is your birthday anniversary, you are a charming person, gracious and with a sweet disposition. You have a keen and active mind, determined and concentrated in your work, and you have a goodly amount of executive ability. You are a good entertainer and are popular in your own social set. The day's influences are doubtful for personal interests, except in the very early morning. Unexpected benefits are prognosticated for you in your next year. Do not, however, spend all your gains on excessive pleasure and friends. Endeavor to obtain value for money. Ultra-modern concerns are well signified. Born on this date a child will be original, optimistic, witty, and very clever; also endowed with much personal magnetism. Success is indicated if the career of a designer, artist or musician, especially ultra-modern, is chosen.

Delegates To 4-H Junior Leadership Course Named

JEAN CAMPBELL,
KENNETH REID
SENT TO CAMP

Youths Will Represent County
At Sessions Which
Start Monday

Jean Campbell, Williamsport, route 2 and Kenneth Reid, Williamsport, route 1 have been selected to represent Pickaway County 4-H Club members at Ohio 4-H junior leadership camp at Camp Ohio, June 9-14.

Jean is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Campbell and has been outstanding in 4-H club work and school work as well as taking an active part in various youth and community groups.

She is a member of the Wayne township home economics and livestock 4-H clubs. Jean has taken eleven projects in her seven years of club work; has held all of the different club offices and has been active in various club activities.

KENNETH is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Reid and for the last two years has been president of the Junior Farmers of Monroe 4-H club. He has taken a total of ten livestock projects in his seven years of club work.

The Monroe Club has been one of the largest clubs in the county for the last several years and during the last few years, Kenneth has assisted and helped younger members with their projects and record books.

He has been a top club member and school student and one of Pickaway county's good athletes.

Camp Ohio is located 15 miles North East of Newark.

The leadership camp is sponsored by Ohio Farmers Insurance Company in co-operation with the agricultural extension service.

LANCASTER GIRL KILLED WHEN AUTO HITS TREE

LANCASTER, O., June 9—A 17-year-old Lancaster girl was instantly killed last night and two other persons were critically injured when the car in which they were riding crashed into a tree on route 37 two miles north of Lancaster.

Mrs. George Roller died of a broken neck, while the driver of the vehicle, Robert Friend, 26, also of Lancaster, was taken to Lancaster hospital and treated for chest injuries and a possible skull fracture. Friend's wife, Freda, also 26, received a broken arm, head cuts and possible internal injuries.

Mrs. Roller's death was the eighth traffic fatality recorded in Fairfield county for 1947.

Earlier, Miss Lila Cook, 17, Mansfield, was taken to Lancaster hospital with a broken back and fractured right ankle after a car driven by her father, Albert T. Cook, 57, failed to make a curve and overturned eight miles north of Lancaster on route 37. Cook's wife, Mildred, 41, was also taken to the Lancaster hospital. She was treated for a fractured right shoulder and other injuries.

Official meat grades most often seen in retail markets are "U. S. Choice," "U. S. Good" and "U. S. Commercial".

POISON IVY

A U. S. GOVERNMENT BUREAU REPORT announces the discovery of a new tannic acid treatment for ivy poisoning. The treatment has been found excellent; it is gentle and safe, dries up the blisters in a surprisingly short time—often within 24 hours. These government findings are incorporated in the new product.
